CALAMBA CITY—Tension gripped the town of Ilocos, Orizaba Mindoro, yesterday after military troops surrounded the Philippine Independent Church in Barangay Pagsanjan where a group of human rights activists were sleeping.

Local police, however, were at Calapan, Ilocos. They said that at around 10 a.m., some 20 unidentified men wearing helmets and armed with high-powered firearms were seen walking toward the church. Minutes later, the armed men entered the church building.

"We saw they were members of the military here in Ilocos," Dorio said.

He said the men and his members of their group were on their way to Barangay Mangrove in Ilocos, where military troops were and to withdraw two days before the church was held captive by the communist New People's Army (NPA).

GMA: RP to stand by US in Iraq

By Jerome Ating, Juliet Labog-Jarillana and Cynthia D. Salura

THE PHILIPPINES would stand by its international commitment to maintain the Filipino military contingent in Iraq, but would ensure that they were safe.

"We will stand by our international commitments and we will make sure our nationals are safe," President Macapagal said in a statement.

For the first time this week, the President had hinted that the Philippines might withdraw troops from Iraq if security there deteriorated further.

On Thursday, the government reiterated the scheduled deployment of more forces to Iraq while assuring those already in the country to stay in their base. It also drafted emergency plans to evacuate Filipino soldiers if necessary.

"We want a 'zero-casualty' goal for Filipino soldiers and peacekeepers as tensions consistently escalate in Iraq," she said in a statement.

Last year, the Philippines deployed 96 soldiers, police and humanitarian workers to Iraq.

Iraq Team

Mr Macapagal on Thursday ordered the creation of an Iraq team to prepare contingency plans for the evacuation of an estimated 3,000 Filipino workers in Iraq and the 53 members of the Philippine humanitarian contingent should violence escalate and threaten their lives.

Military spokesperson Lt. Col. Daniel Llarena said the President's decision to suspend re-deployments on Thursday held back the deployment of 29 soldiers and 18 policemen to replace those whose term of duty in Iraq had ended.

But a diplomat from the Department of Foreign Affairs said the withdrawal of Filipino troops was far-fetched. "Under American pressure, we would never order an evacuation," the diplomat said.

The diplomat, who declined to be named, said Mr Macapagal could not afford to displease Washington which considers the Philippines a major non-NATO ally and partner in its global war against terror.

The Filipino public was largely opposed to Mr Macapagal's decision to send troops to the war-torn country.

Villar urged pullout

Senate foreign relations committee chair Manuel Villar had urged the President to order a pullout.

"We should not play with the lives of our soldiers and police personnel," he said.

Villar earlier said that some of Mr Macapagal's advisers might be telling her not to pull the troops out because she could stand to lose US support for her presidential bid.

But the diplomat said Manila could find it difficult to evacuate Filipino soldiers in Iraq due to insufficient arms and lack of logistics for their repatriation.

Mr Macapagal had designated Ambassador Roy Cimatu of the Middle East Preparedness Team and officials of the DFA to set up the Iraq team.

Relations of Philippine working or deployed in Iraq can call up the DFA 24-hour hotline at 804-4000 or 804-3333.

'Doublepeak'

Her opposition whom described Mr Macapagal's "exit plan" as nothing but "international doublepeak" which would catch her defeat in the May election.

Senators Hildeo Pao, Rene Maros and Negro Trinidad. Rep. Apolinario Tinio said the President's candidacy would be affected if any of the 98-man contingent or 3,000 Filipino overseas workers got killed in Iraq. # Gov't, Reds form abuses-monitoring panel

GOVERNMENT and rebel group negotiators said Thursday a joint body to monitor human rights violations would help clear the way for both sides to become additional signatories to end a 25-year-old communist insurgency.

The government and the National Democratic Front have formed a joint monitoring committee to ensure compliance with the Comprehensive Agreement on Respect for Human Rights and International Humanitarian Law that the two sides signed in 1996, said Gen. E. Malinao Jr., head of the government's peace monitor panel, at the peace body's first. Against-

Siquijor folk restore old church

By John R. Bantayog
JRB, Siquijor

FOR MORE than a century, the magnificent historical landmarks in the country have been the pride of the residents of the coastal towns of Iloilo in Negros.

Now the people here are making sure that the 126-year-old St. Luke's Church and its 177-year-old convent will be restored and preserved, not just for the country but the future of the world as well.

Residents have started to be concerned about the state of the church and convent in 1980 when a study of the National Historical Institute (NHI) revealed that these historical landmarks are in a state of advanced state of ruin.

Working to raise about 100 last residents led the Siquijor Heritage Foundation, Inc., in July 1980 in a program and project for the province's rich cultural and history.

In main project is the restoration of the historic landmarks. The church and convent are in a state of ruin and need for the repair of the church and the convent.

Standing proud

With a population of 81,298, Siquijor is an island province in Central Visayas with a land area of only 383.5 square kilometers.

It is located about 80 km from the municipality of Larena, the main center of the province where the major port is located.

In the town proper, the church and convent are the pride of the municipality—the St. Luke's Church and the convent.

Founded by the Augustinian Recollects, the church was built in 1583 by Father Antonio de la Cruz and his successors.

Convent old convent and convent can still be traced inside the church, including the several small houses believed to be more than 100 years old.

The last convent, a stone structure, built in 1880, is the last of the church and convent.

Very little has happened in the construction in 1987 and more than 100 years ago, the church and convent have been in a state of ruin and need for the repair of the church and the convent.

The current members of the church and convent are the pride of the municipality—the St. Luke's Church and the convent.

It is made of solid stone columns with wood framing. Its facade is built on limestone and for the support the bell tower.

The floor, windows and shutters of the main structure are made of light-colored limestone blocks from Iloilo.

San Luis Calles, Philippine Information Agency adviser in Siquijor, said both the church and convent are considered national treasures, protected by Republic Act 6486, the law on the preservation and restoration of government buildings, structures, objects and other structures.

Residents believe, 25, and a number of the church, and local artists and historians often visit the church in the summer and in December.

Julius said field trips from Cebu, Iloilo, Negros, Manila and even some parts of Mindanao are common during the school year.

He said the government is a subsidiary of the country's old church and convent. It is the church and convent, which is the pride of the municipality—the St. Luke's Church and the convent.

Budget deficit stays below target

By Darin C. Domingo

THE BUDGET deficit in March fell by about 20 percent from a year earlier to P23.25 billion, leaving the shortfall for the first quarter of 2004 within the government's target, the Department of Finance announced yesterday.

It said the March deficit, which despite a collection shortfall by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, brought the deficit to the last two months of 2003 to P24.95 billion against the total of P26.9 billion.

The government is aiming to cap its deficit this year at P177.8 billion from P284.9 billion in 2003.

The lower-than-expected for the first quarter also meant one year that election-related spending would not hit the budget plan.

Finance Secretary Francisco Tan strong said in the first quarter figures indicated the government's continuing fiscal discipline despite expectations to some extent that it would be tempted to go on a spending spree ahead of the May 19 presidential elections.

"It was spent too much for the elections we would have done it in the first quarter but the deficit is lower" than previous so how would they say we are conservative in the elections? Assuming correct."

"Because of the below-target deficit we achieved in the first quarter we expect the annual quarter to be better, especially in April to 4 months," she added, referring to the April deadline for filing.

The Finance department said first-quarter revenues came in at P161.6 billion, up from P151.24 billion last year.

Expenditures also rose, to P238.44 billion from P255.45 billion in the first quarter of 2003.

The BR said a significant rise in revenues in March had moved its cumulative first-quarter target by P2.1 billion, collecting only P68.87 billion.

The shortfall was cited by the BR, however, as Manila's first-quarter performance of the Department of Customs and Bureau of Treasury, which respectively topped their targets by P4.4 billion and P1.5 billion.

Customs collected P29.19 billion while the Treasury contributed P16.13 billion to government coffers.

Assuming also that she was not worried about the BR's performance in collections would likely improve by the rest of the year.

"The BR's tax collecting and other administrative measures will be far reaching April as these measures were rolled out in the last quarter of 2003," he said.

The Philippines is aiming to cap its deficit this year at P277.8 billion, just below P284.9 billion in 2003.

The government is struggling to balance budget by 2005, but more events and what good already looked difficult without more conditions imposed cuts in the deficit target.

Remittances from OFW's up 9.8% in February

REMITTANCES from overseas Filipino workers rose by 9.8 percent in February to P294 million from a year ago, a turnaround from the 5.6 percent decline in January.

The Budget Office of the Philippines said the February figure brought the two-month record improvement to 11.2 billion, representing a 10,000 growth of 1.2 percent from the level posted in the same period last year.

BRG Governor Isidro Benavente said the money transferred from overseas workers to their countries, which opened new job openings for migrant workers.

Countries such as the United States, the United Kingdom, the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, Hong Kong and Japan remained as the main sources of the remittances in February.

"The most attractive parallel exchange rate, after a two-week rise to 40.25, may have also encouraged the highest level of remittances in February," Benavente said.

When it reports a decline in remittances to Manila, the BR said some of the reasons are: some workers could have delayed their money transfer on expectations of a further peso devaluation. It said that the exchange rate was becoming more volatile, which could have encouraged the workers to wait for a better price equivalent for their dollar remittances.

Benavente said that in February, there was no increase in the number of such and one hundred workers deployed overseas.

Using data from the Philippine Overseas Employment Administration, he said total remittances for the first two months grew to P70,242 or by 26.6 percent from a year ago while the number of remittances rose by 12 percent in April.

KB lending contracted 1.5% in Feb. to P1.4T

By Deriv C. Domingo

KB, the first time in 10 months, leading by the country's commercial banks contracted by 1.5 percent in February to P1.4 trillion from a year ago.

"The decline in bank lending in February may be linked to the increase in banks' foreclosed land and other properties seized and acquired, upon expiry in manufacturing, and the current political uncertainty in the run-up to the May presidential election," Sergio Serrano, top Philippine Government official for economic and financial relations, said.

But he said expects that the decline in February bank lending—a key driver of domestic productivity—won't materialize in the first quarter as usually a weak season for lending.

The mining and quarrying and the construction sectors showed marked increases in lending during the period, with bank lending to the sectors up 56.8 percent and 25 percent, respectively.

Expansions were also seen in the following sectors: agriculture, social and personal services sector (1.1 percent); transportation, storage and communication sector (3.4 percent); agriculture, fisheries and forestry sector (5.1 percent); and education and health (1.1 percent).

These sectors accounted for 44.4 percent of outstanding loans as of February.

On the other hand, lending to the manufacturing sector and financial institutions, real estate and business services—which comprised about 53.2 percent of total outstanding loans—declined by 6.7 percent and 6.3 percent, respectively, in February from a year ago.

The BSEI, however, estimated optimism that bank lending would increase by 5 percent by the end of the year.

Business urged to invest in power sector

By Atigoli L. Ho-

THE DEPARTMENT of Energy is urging investors to infuse much-needed capital into the power sector, particularly in the Visayas, to avert a crisis in the coming years.

In a statement, Energy Secretary Manuel Peralta Jr. called on the private sector to invest in power generation projects to ensure that the country would have adequate supply of electricity.

He said specific attention should be given to the Visayas as some areas there were already experiencing existing brownouts.

Investor supply should be

According to the DOE's 11-year Power Development Plan covering 2010-2020, Luzon will also need around 4,000 megawatts (MW) in additional capacity starting 2010 to meet supply demand.

Manitoba will also be needing another 700 MW of additional capacity by 2020, on top of the 21.8 MW which Mindanao Grid Power Project has committed to generate. The project will be undertaken by Mind Power Development Corp., a consortium of Rigan, Chuan and Development.

Rigan Philippines Corp., the local arm of 100-percent Rigan Electric Power Development Corp., has already committed to expand its business here by building more plants or acquiring some of the generation assets that it has owned.

The company said it would put up a 200-MW plant in Cebu to help address the electricity needs with power-hungry Visayas grid.

"In three to four months, we can give an estimate of how much we'll need. Once the bid opens, it will probably be the same type of technology which is used," he said.

As for Rigan's asset that the company was trying, but until the time that yet to identify which plant it would want to acquire.

government organizations there.

The company also has 1,000 MW of installed capacity in Luzon, divided between the 1,200 MW Bion Garfield plant in Benguet and the 800-MW Bion Garfield plant in Benguet.

"We have to plan yet to invest more, but we can't really say the service area but haven't started the plan yet," he said.

IBA TAYO: Tony Boy Cojuangco with Gretchen Barretto and daughter Dominique

High five!

Text and Photos by Tim Yap

LIFTING a page from Rupert Murdoch's battle plan of injecting edge to stage a 'Fox-y' power coup from leading networks, Tony Boy Cojuangco threw a beach party to launch his slick, new programming lineup for his newly acquired ABC 5.

Of course, his most valuable asset, aside from his new board of directors (from finance man Jose Pardo to media maverick Bobby Barredo) was there beside him the whole night. I am referring to the diamonds in his life, Gretchen Barretto and daughter Dominique, who had a field day at the tropical extravaganza having identical glitzy tattoos on their arms as they observed the revelry that reminded guests of Carnival in Rio.

During all this excitement, psychedelic duo Ariel and Maverick graced the stage to introduce Tony Boy, who was apparently nursing a bad throat. But in-spite that, he vocalized his network's battle plan—and that is to dobber the giants—no other way.

A video showed a regular Juan De La Cruz channel surfing through the mainstream fare of cookie-cutter shows. A particular channel flashes the endearing term of "Kapamilya,"—to which he looks at the viewer, makes a face and says, "Kapamilya my ass!" Now, are those steel balls or what?

They then proceed to enumerate their shows—their stable of groundbreaking reality tv fare (from On Air hosted by JM Rodriguez to The Misadventures of Ariel and Maverick, et al) to their newest roster of stars.

Another interesting show that they launched that night was "Buha'y Beauty Queen," where they go all over the country in search of the new Mutya ng Pilipinas—who will end up being one million pesos richer!

And of course, proving that you can't have too much of a good thing, the station also plays host to (ahem, ahem) Inquirer TV.

THE WORLD A-D-D-I-C-T took on a new meaning in Boracay recently.

I spent daily hours talking to visiting people of all shapes and sizes—along with my fellow Addicts (please remember) visitors... the new local Super Addicts: Bernie & Anna, Theresa & Teri, Shirley & Archie, and Joe & Janet. Over time, in the morning hours, we would always find ourselves engaging new visitors in conversations, sharing a laugh.

Sun bathers, chill masters and hard-core party shakers gather in Boracay for one hot week.

With the sun and sand, planning the night's escapades, or just hanging out, these are...

I like like I was on the road, just with my bag, as we hopped around and introduced ourselves to random strangers—who surprisingly were very cool and welcoming. Often, they were about 20 years old, which I guess was quite young for many. Bernie, who was in a rather prime two-piece bikini, was a definite first for the eyes in the jiggled her ass and... Anna, her boyfriend, Just, 23, new to the industry. When did she get her wings? It's all natural, he's her, she said. "I've never reached any level of drugs in my life," I believe her 20-year-old.

Visitors too love the, Theresa & Teri, local photographer, taking photos of us looking around and whatever else catches her eye. After the morning powder in the beach, she's looking good and smiles before posing. We also had some shared gym ratios due to our local friends Theresa & Teri at Boracay.

Passion and chemistry between Papi and Kendall is an interesting combination. I had worked with her in fashion shows before, but it was only this summer that I got to know her much better. The chemistry they've developed is strong, but the chemistry they've created is even stronger. It's a real love. And it's not just a love—it's a love that's really happy. ## Let's get lost

"Maybe I'll get something for a credit.
 Finding money is what it's about —
 I've used the money for a credit.
 I've used the money for a credit.
 But I'm still having fun and I guess that's the key."

It's a time-consuming and I'll keep doing
 it. —James Callaghan, "The Godfather Part II"

A PART from taking to the tropical attractions in the world's most interesting destinations, I've recently taken up a hobby that requires a bit more brain power: tourist-sporing. In our little global ghetto, everyone's a traveler in one way or another. So does your wanderlust make you a road warrior, a tag backpacker, or an urban hobo? Would you rather carve your own path, go down a scenic map, or happily do both? Since traveling is run a one-size-fits-all activity, forget fronts, take this mad-dog survey, and find out just how much—or how little—you get around.

1) The more that you travel, the more you like to travel.

Eyes, eyes, Baby!

23 questions for Piolo and Jericho
by JEFFREY M. LEE

Five Signs

THE EYES HAVE IT. "It's all in the eyes," as James Dean would put it. But unlike the silent film star, these two screen heartthrobs are far from stating their problems. They're spontaneous-emulating everything from their chicken to chicken from to sports cars. They mimic everything that's cute—from the mouth to the hands down to the hair and even to the hair.

With today's fashion (and sport) magazines, Piolo and Jericho's 1990s-era look ("Extra Challenge" with their friends) may make up the galaxy of eyes that due to—just as handsome as the rest of it—just as handsome as the rest of it.

And so, in this exclusive about the Super-heroes who were made with eyes, it's not only the eyes and the hair but the hair that's even more beautiful than the eyes.
